Mr Jon Black

Dear Sir,

I do apologise for having to leave the strategic plan meeting before closing, but it was unavoidable.

Now having heard your narrative at the meeting and considered the plan in detail, it is a very appropriate response to the necessary changes that must be made to the entire “modus operandi” of the RSL. These changes must be made if we are to survive and as a fully functioning entity.

I noted at the meeting advice on the reduction in the numbers of staff at ANZAC House where the work load has remained the same. Also was the importance of commemorative events to the RSL.

Please note the Corps of Guards have moved their operations to the Kokoda Memorial (from the ANZAC Memorial) where they are assisting in commemorative events. Should you require assistance for these commemorative events do not hesitate to contact me.

Regards,

Robert Wakeling
